ZOOT SCOOTERS

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

What fuel should I use in my Zoot Scooter?

Use 95 Octane unleaded fuel.
Important: Do not use E10 or 91 Octane fuel.

Do I have to mix the oil & petrol like the old 2-stroke Scooters?

There is NO measuring or mixing necessary thanks to our industry-leading oil injection system, which is fitted to all 50cc Zoot Scooters. Simply fill the fuel tank up with 95 Octane unleaded fuel, and the scooter will mix the fuel & oil together all by itself.

What oil should I use in my 2-stroke Scooter?

Use a good quality, Semi-Synthetic or full Synthetic low smoke, 2T Scooter oil.
Do not use cheap 2T oil designed for chainsaws or boats - this could cause damage to the scooter.
Important: Do not mix oil with fuel; simply add to the oil bottle when dash light comes on.

When does my scooter need to have its first service?

Your scooter's first service is critical and must be performed between 300km - 500km. A failure to do so will void the scooter's warranty.
Service charges apply.

What warranty comes with my Zoot Scooter?

All Zoot Scooters come with a 2-year / 10,000km warranty.*

What licence do I need to ride a 50cc Scooter?

As of October 2018, In South Australia, Queensland and Western Australia, you don't need a special licence to ride a 50cc Scooter if you have one for the car.
Please visit your State Government authority to get all the detail.

Can I ride a Scooter with a learners permit?

No, you need a driver's licence or provisional driver's licence to ride a moped.
Learners in South Australia, Queensland, Northern Territory and Western Australia must pass a riding test and obtain a RD Learners Permit before they can legally ride a moped.

Zoot Scooters are a proud Australian owned and run company with over 40 years experience in the Australian automotive industry.

Having access to a vast knowledge base in and around the manufacturing and maintenance of our Scooters, we pride ourselves on quality service, giving factual advice and pay attention to our customers needs.

Our range grows year on year with new styles, colours and configurations. Keep up to date with all our new models, or simply have a chat with the team via the details below.
